CIVIL LITIGATION

McConnaughay, Coonrod, Weaver & Stern, P.A., provides the supporting role for our clients managing and defending a broad range general liability claims. Throughout the states of Florida and Georgia, we defend such cases on behalf of individual insureds, corporations, local and state government agencies, private employers and insurers. We provide extensive representation from pre-suit through trial or arbitration, and we successfully litigate appeals, as appellant or appellee. Clear communication, managing expectations and keeping litigation expenses in check allows us to perform at a high standard and provide the results our clients expect. As a growing practice group within the Firm, each of our offices can now provide general liability defense from attorneys with extensive litigation experience. Our legal team is well-versed with the local judiciary and we have a built positive reputation throughout the southeast, through professionalism, active membership in local Bar Associations.

Like our Workers' Compensation counterparts, our general liability defense team takes a strong role in educating the business and insurance community on Florida tort Law. This emphasis on education reflects our philosophy of serving clients fully.
